IMPORTANT DECISION -- On Wednesday morning (24th inst), in the United States District Court, i session in St. Louis, Judge Wells delivered an opin ion in the case of the Memphis Insurance Company versus Oliver Garrison and Dan. R. Garrison, which is of con iderable importance to steamboat owners and merchants. The following is a statement of the case and decision, viz:

In the year 1849, a large amount of cotton, three hundred and eighty-eight bales, valued at $16,290, was shipped at Memphis and other points in Ten nessee, for New Orleans, on the steamboat Concoy, of which boat the defendants were owners. which the cotton was to be carried and delivered-dangers of river only, excepted." The boat, and cargo with it, in the month of February, were destroyed by fire, which it was admitted did not arise from any fault of the master, crew, agent, or owners of the boat.

The Memphis insurance company had insured the cotton against " loss by fire." They paid the loss and brought this suit against the owners of the boat to recover the value of the corton, claiming to be equitably suprogated, or entitled to all the rights of the original owners of such cotton.

1st. That the complainants were entitled to suc in equity, to recover, if the defendants were h-

2d. That the exception in the bill of lading of dangers of the river only," did not include firefire was not a danger of the river, within the meaning of the bill of lading, though it did not proceed from any fault or negligence of those managin, the boat. A decree was accordingly rendered agm, st the defendants for the value of the cotton.

This decision is highly important to our commercial people generally, and will occasion much comment among steamboat owners and others, North and South. The case hangs upon a very nice point, and perhaps a majority will not be willing to admit and dangers on the river.

The question will, doubtless, be carried to the Supreme Court of the United States.

Prof. O. J. Wood—Dear Sir: Unsolicited I send you this certificate. After being nearly baid for a long time, and having tried all the hair restoratives extant, and having no faith in any. I was induced, on hearing of yours, to give it a trial. I piaced myself in the hands of a barber and had my head rubbed with a good stiff brush, and the Restorative then applied and well rubbed in till the scalp was all a glow. This I repeated every morning, and in three weeks the coung hair appeared, and grew rapidly from August last up to the present fine, and is now black, thick and strong—soft and pleasant to the touch, whereas before it was harsh and wiry, what little there was of it, and that little was disappearing very rapidly. I still use your Restorative about appearing very rapidly. I still use your Restorative about twice a week, and shall soon have a good and perfect crop of hair. Now I have read of these things—and who has not?—but have never hitherto seen any case in which any person's hair was really benefitted by the aid of the hair tonics, &c., of the day; and it really gives me pleasure to record the result of my experience. I have recommended your preparation to others, and it already has a large and constraints and the form of the result of the form of the first of the ad despaired long, long ago of ever effecting any such re-ult.
